

Who is Pascal Bayard? Developer, forecast for solutions with multichannel PIM and master data management at foryouandyourcustomers.

"The more projects I do, the more I can look back. This helps me to look ahead in order to identify and solve problems at an early stage.."

What Pascal Bayard can offer you

Pascal Bayard's customers and team members benefit from his knowledge and experience in developing e-commerce and ERP technology, as well as product information management and master data management. For Pascal, there is a satisfying result, a development solution that is both expandable and flexible for the future, and that delivers the best possible results in the here and now in line with the customer's wishes. He makes himself the requirement to foresee future contradictions and defects. He has taken his first steps as a Solution Architect to extend the boundaries of what has been possible so far.

More about Pascal Bayard (pab) under <http://pab.foryouandyourcustomers.com>

Where his expertise comes from

Pascal Bayard studied computer science in Metz and Saarbrücken and lives in the two language worlds of the neighbouring countries. His technology and development experience comes from major projects in the field of product information management and master data management as well as from the e-commerce and ERP environment. Detailed knowledge comes from various fields such as data modelling, interface development and system integration. He was up to the demands of e-commerce deployment in the company as well as the development of statistics and reporting.

Experienced in agile projects (SCRUM), he is available to his customers as a forward-looking service provider with a passion for the best possible solutions.

*"Pascal has something like a photographic memory. This is of course helpful if you are looking for a solution in processes with many stations.."
Team member*