

Who is Daniel Kimmich? An Application Consultant and Support Agent at foryouandyourcustomers and your port of call for all matters concerning your PIM and MDM solutions.

More about Daniel Kimmich (dki) at <https://dki.foryouandyourcustomers.com>.

What Daniel Kimmich offers

“From the beginning, my friends, relatives and neighbours have always turned to me for help and advice when it came to their computers.” As a reliable, intelligent and insightful service provider, Daniel Kimmich has helped clarify all application queries for users of product information management technology since 2014.

As an IT specialist with a broad spectrum of knowledge, he uses his understanding of interfaces and the technology behind them to solve problems for his customers. Making a support question a separate issue allows him to advise his customers as equal partners and provide coaching on a new technology. As an Application Consultant, Daniel Kimmich designs the interface and connection of PIM and MDM technology in surrounding systems for multichannel product communication.

His Background

Daniel Kimmich earned a Bachelor of Science in business IT at the Stuttgart Media University (HdM). In 2014 he then went on to work for Druckhaus Waiblingen on the digitisation of product information. His responsibilities included migrating old systems to asimBase and installing updates.

When the asimBase PIM system was acquired by Comosoft, Daniel Kimmich continued to help customers use and configure the system.

He has been providing customers of the foryouandyourcustomers Group with support services for PIM solutions and application consulting for multichannel product communication since September 2017.

“I see myself as a firefighter in critical situations and I expect to be there for everyone.”

– Daniel Kimmich