What Daniel Stadelmann offers

He accompanies you from the initial idea to the successful implementation and further development of your digitization projects. This not only results in well thought-out concepts and pragmatic solutions. As a trust-building personality, he brings the right people together. With the concrete application of contemporary methods and an agile mindset, he helps you, your organization and your employees to develop in order to tackle the numerous challenges of digitalization. In doing so, you will value the time spent together as much as you will enjoy concrete results.

His Background

Since 2014, Daniel Stadelmann has been accompanying customers on their digital transformation journey as a senior consultant and project manager with foryouandyourcustomers. This has resulted in long-standing relationships that form the backbone of successful partnerships.

Since 2019, Daniel Stadelmann has been a member of the extended board of directors of foryouandyourcustomers and Deputy Head of the Uster site.

In various roles as team and project leader, he previously worked for eight years at Helsana in the fields of tension between customers and corporate organization, IT and business, technology and people, data and emotions.

Before joining Helsana, he worked as a consultant at Accenture in areas such as reorganization, change management and process optimization.

In his daily work at foryouandyourcustomers, he now benefits not only from his immense wealth of professional experience, but also from his work as an instructor for snowboarding and sports instructors at Swiss Snowsports, Youth & Sport and the University of Lausanne.

The foundation for his broad understanding of the subject is Daniel Stadelmann's solid education at the ETH Lausanne with a Master of Science in Microtechnology and an exchange year at Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh, USA. He also earned an MBA with specializations in marketing and leadership at the QUT Graduate School of Business in Brisbane, Australia.

“For me, a personal relationship and trust is the essence of a shared journey.”
