

Who's Marta Simeonova? Front End Developer at foryouand yourcustomers in Sofia and skilled Web Application Developer.

More about Marta Simeonova (mas) at <https://mas.foryouandyourcustomers.com>.

What Marta Simeonova offers

As a Senior Web Developer Marta Simeonova can support you throughout your whole web journey, starting from basic prototypes and clearing out the MVP features from business requirements, through implementing elaborate UI and UX, that complies with the latest user guides and patterns. Following up on her experience with a vast number of web technologies, she can offer you support for your legacy solutions while working on a seamless transition to the industry's gold standard implementation that fits your needs.

Her Background

She started in 2010 as a self-taught developer focusing on Front End and the Javascript language. For the next couple of years, she shifted her focus mainly to mobile web development, taking advantage of the then-emerging tools for cross-platform development for Blackberry, Android and iOS.

While working in a start-up environment, Marta grew her expertise to encompass the whole web spectrum of the clients' needs - prototyping, building user-facing UIs and tailor-made CMS solutions.

She is curious and dabs into various technologies outside the web development field like IoT, design and prototype tools which helps her see and actively participate in the bigger picture of a business idea.

"If you can't measure it,
you can't improve it."

Peter Drucker